With over 150 employees, and multiple divisions (AV, Print, Digital, Brand, Media, Content) the intern will work with the operations manager to customize an internship that fits their needs and desires.

If an intern is interested in a specific facet of the company, or for returning interns, the intern will be placed in a specific department, focusing on the area they are interested in pursuing.

For first time interns, who aren't sure where they want to do within the industry, we offer a rotating schedule where the intern can experience different facets of the company each week.

A first time intern will rotate through the departments weekly. Shadowing one or two specific people in the department and seeing what they do, while also getting a chance to participate and contribute to projects. Our internships are paid, and interns are expected to work like regular employees. The different departments an intern will explore include:
